FOREWORD

In May of the present year the Massachusetts State Planning Board received from its Supervisor of Industrial Surveys, Melvin L. Morse, a preliminary report of foreign trade recorded by Massachusetts Customs District, including vessel movements of the Port of Boston and summary statistics of other customs districts of New England. This report was accepted by the Board and its release for public distribution authorized.

The Board has now received from the same source a final statement of foreign trade statistics presenting records of commercial imports and exports of the Customs District of Massachusetts. As explained in the letter of transmittal, the compilation covers the years 1937, 1938 and 1939, and shows the amount and value of the principal articles of commerce imported and exported through the customs offices of the Massachusetts District, giving for each article the foreign country of origin or destination.

The summary statistics used in the earlier preliminary study were used as a guide and check in breaking down the records into individual commodity units. The present report, therefore, does not duplicate but rather carries the work through to completion, without attempting any interpretation or analysis of the statistical data. The facts regarding trade movements over the three-year period are presented with the idea that they will be found useful by individuals and organizations interested or engaged in foreign trade.

The Board, in accepting this report from its Industrial Division and authorizing its release for public distribution, desires to join with Mr. Morse in expressing its appreciation of the interest and assistance of those who have co-operated with him in the work, including the Work Projects Administration officials, Mr. Louis Brackman, who served as Supervisor and all of the corps of workers who rendered efficient service under his direction.

The board is deeply appreciative also of the constructive and loyal services of Mr. Morse and the other members of its own staff directly involved in the preparation of the report.

This report and the other studies now being carried on relative to land use, water resources, recreation, transportation and public works, combine to assist the Board in carrying out its legislative mandate to develop a comprehensive plan which "shall be made with the general purpose of guiding and accomplishing a co-ordinated, adjusted, efficient and economic development of the Commonwealth, which will, in accordance with present and future needs and resources, best promote the health, safety, morals, order, convenience, prosperity and welfare of the people."

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

October 10, 1940

To the Massachusetts State Planning Board

Gentlemen:

We submit herewith as a staff report a final statement of the Foreign Trade Statistics study now completed for the purpose of presenting records of commercial imports and exports of the Customs District of Massachusetts.

This study has been implemented by Official Project No. 65-1-14-67 of the Work Projects Administration under the direction of the Industrial Surveys Division of the State Planning Board. The study shows the amount and value of the principal articles of commerce imported and exported through the Customs offices of the Massachusetts district, giving for each article the foreign country of origin or destination. The compilation covers the years 1937, 1938 and 1939.

This is the first time that a complete compilation of these data has ever been made. The work was undertaken at the suggestion of leading groups directly interested in promoting the movement of foreign trade through Massachusetts ports, including the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Foreign Commerce Club of Boston, Boston Port Authority, Foreign Trade Committee of Boston Chamber of Commerce, Associated Industries of Massachusetts, New England Council and Massachusetts Development and Industrial Commission.

A preliminary report of this study was made May 16, 1940, presenting summary statistics used in the study as a guide and check in breaking down the records into individual commodity units. The summary statistics were compiled by Edmond F. Bemis, Commercial Agent, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce at Boston. The final report herewith presented does not repeat, but rather complements the preliminary report of May 16.

Success of this project has been made possible through the wholehearted cooperation of the Work Projects Administration officials, the supervisor, Mr. Louis Brackman and the staff members employed.

Most helpful also, has been the counsel of representatives of leading organizations interested in Massachusetts foreign trade who are cooperating and advising in the study.

INTRODUCTION

Massachusetts and all the coastal states of New England owe much of their economic growth to foreign trade. In the early days shipping was their main industry and even now the traffic of their ports forms a far larger part of the business and employment of this area than in generally recognized.

Importance of export and import activities to industries and the individual citizens of New England, particularly of Massachusetts, is indicated by a review of the foreign trade activities mentioned in the tables presented here.

It should be noted distinctly, when referring to foreign trade statistics in this report, that the figures are those recorded as passing through the Massachusetts custom districts and do not constitute the total volume of imports of the state.

Goods produced in Massachusetts may be exported via ports outside the custom district of Massachusetts and are then recorded as exporting through the custom districts of the particular port of exportation.

Similarly, goods imported into Massachusetts may be imported via ports outside the custom district of Massachusetts and are then recorded as importing through the custom districts of the particular port of importation. Goods imported into the custom district of such port, however, the fact that the goods have been imported is recorded.

However, if foreign goods arrive at a port outside the custom district of Massachusetts and then move inland to a custom port in Massachusetts where they are entered as customs, such an import shipment would be recorded as an import movement of the custom district of Massachusetts.

No attempt is made to state by dates of origin are available and there is no attempt at summarizing information from the statistical reports regarding distribution of imports for consumption after entry through customs. Therefore, it is impossible to measure accurately the foreign trade of a state.

In this report the classification used was the same as those established by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. The same instances the classification used can be broken down still more finely than in this report. Even further detail also may be had upon request of the Massachusetts State Planning Board.
